KCA Announces Sarah Knehr as the Recipient of the 2021 Top Young Leader Award

Harrisburg, PA – The Keystone Contractors Association (KCA) is pleased to announce Quandel Construction Group’s Sarah Knehr as the recipient of the 2021 KCA Top Young Leader Award. This award is bestowed upon emerging professionals from member companies who play a critical role in the community and professional areas of the construction industry.

A Senior Project Manager with Quandel, Sarah has served in the construction industry since 2010 and has been a valuable member of the Quandel team. Starting as a Project Engineer, it became evident that she belonged in a more challenging role and was quickly promoted to Assistant Project Manager. Growing professionally over the past decade, she now leads her own projects and is the key point of contact for clients on projects.

“She is responsible, not only for administration of our construction services, but also serves as the corporate lead for healthcare planning and design matters,” said Greg Quandel, CEO of Quandel Enterprises. “Her skills in running efficient and timely projects have made her one of our top project managers. Sarah’s leadership abilities have gained respect from many who she has interacted with over the years.”

“Her work ethic and leadership skills have served her well in achieving the prestigious recognition from the KCA. The fact that KCA chose Sarah is not surprising for those of us that work with her on a daily basis,” said Mike Karcutskie, President of Quandel Construction Group. “Sarah consistently manages projects with enthusiasm and problem-solving at the forefront. Her consistent results continue to serve both Quandel and our clients well.”
